Résumé: (traduction alternative) Also known as Feysonciego and Espuena is a dry canyon to do when the others are too high. Aesthetic, aerial, with long rappels... you could say that it is a vertiginous descent. If we do it with a combination of vehicles, the accesses and returns are almost immediate.
Hydrologie: (traduction alternative) Not easy, perhaps by the orographic left to the path that goes up to the refuge.
Accès: (traduction alternative) We are located in Ainsa (N260), we will take the A138 towards France through the Bielsa tunnel. After a few kilometers we will pass through Labuerda and at pk57 we arrive at Escalona. We will continue towards France passing through Lafortunada until the detour to the valley of Chistau/Gistaín (A2609). We will go along this road until the detour to Saravillo/Ibon de Plan, we will go up to the village until the barrier where we will have to pay the 3€ to continue along the track of Ibon, about 4kms where we will find the detour to the right to the refuge of Sta Isabel just above the ravine. We will park the car here to return. We will continue along the track to the refuge where we will park.
Approche: (traduction alternative) Next to the refuge, to the left of the trail, there is a path that goes up some meadows and crosses the forest over the cliffs to the riverbed.
Tour: (traduction alternative) A fairly open descent with a few initial drops and simple rappels that will increase in height up to the cirque where we find the large 55m rappel. Later we will find the one of 45m. The final part is a small strait of 4 rappels of up to 16m that opens to the forest.
Retour: (traduction alternative) With two cars we will follow the riverbed to the ascent track. With only one car at the end of the descent we will find a path to the left through the forest that will take us up to the refuge. Hard ascent but in a beautiful environment.
