Résumé: (traduction alternative)

Within the Natural Park of Cadi - Moixero, with all that this entails, a magnificent environment but necessary permission.

Initiation, it is an aquatic descent, with turquoise green water, in which we will find all kinds of obstacles. Simple, comfortable and beautiful approach by a shady path and even more comfortable return, where we can take a bath on hot summer days, as it is a very popular area for bathing.

Check if you need a permit at: <http://parcsnaturals.gencat.cat/es/xarxa-de-parcs/cadi/inici/>

Hydrologie: (traduction alternative)

Many, the road crosses the ravine every few minutes.

Accès: (traduction alternative)

By the C16 we will be located in Bagà, we will look for the information center of the Cadí-Moixeró park.

From here we will go towards the campsite, we will leave it behind and soon we have a detour to the right to the Refugi Vents del Cadi. We will get on this track and go to the refuge and the Aula de la Salle Nature Classroom, where we will park (in summer it fills up very quickly).

Approche: (traduction alternative)

We leave by the path heading north to the Bullidor de la Llet, we will pass the crossing that leads to the Bullidor and go to the right (this point is the exit of the ravine). We will continue along the path heading north, between the high walls, crossing the riverbed several times. Once you open the strait, soon, we can approach the riverbed to enter.

Tour: (traduction alternative)

Nice descent with a multitude of small slopes and a slide if the flow allows it. In the middle of the descent we have the highest rappel, 17m with duplicate installation, one by the waterfall (beautiful if the flow permits) and another on the left with possible handrail. We will continue doing short rappels to reach the exit walkway.

Retour: (traduction alternative)

We will retrace the access road
